

Crepuscular Dreams

Night. Yet morning.

Crepuscular. Cool.

Half-awake. Half-asleep.

Quiet but for the whispered secrets of invertebrates.

Just then, an emergent glow.

As night surrenders to birdsong,

Dreamers wake and face the dawn.

—Todd Warner

Copyright © 2019 Todd Warner

(2019) 2022. In County Lines, Vol. 7 2020. December 4, 2019. Louisburg, NC: Writers Guild, Franklin

County Arts Council. Revised November 12, 2022.